

CAREER COUNSELING

About

Career Counselling also called "Career Development" is a life-long process to manage learning, work, leisure and transitions in order to move toward personally determined and evolving preferred future.

Scope of Career Counseling

Stage 1. Self-exploration

At this stage, students undergo psychometric assessment including personality type, emotional intelligence (E.Q), intelligence (I.Q), career interest and core values.

Stage 2. Data Analysis

After psychometric assessment, objective data is analysed to compile comprehensive assessment report by ensuring data confidentiality.

Stage 3. Counselling Session with Management Plan

Individual and group counselling sessions are conducted with students to conclude about profession and occupation commensurate with suitability of personality, interest and intellectual capacity.

Stage 4. Decision-making and Career Planning

In counselling and training sessions, students are equipped, prepared and trained to choose institutions, educational pursuits and professional path.

Stage 5. Management Plan & Follow-up

After counselling and training sessions, students are provided with management plan for consistent and life-long learning. Follow-up sessions are also key features of CareerImpact.

Practical Outcomes of Career Counselling Services

After taking these services, students will be able to:

1. Uplift themselves to choose career according to personality and life-style.
2. Equip, develop and succeed through educational and professional career.
3. Comprehend their personal strengths, interests, skills and mental aptitude.
4. Get knowledge and skills with positive attitude for academic achievements, personality development, social maturity and professional growth.
